

Twentieth-Century Literature

Focusing on literary-cultural production emerging from or responding to the twentieth century, Twentieth-Century Literature offers essays, grounded in a variety of approaches, that interrogate and enrich the ways we understand the literary cultures of the times.

This includes work considering how those cultures are bound up with the crucial intellectual, social, aesthetic, political, economic, and environmental developments that have shaped the early twenty-first century as well.

criticism

A Quarterly for Literature and the Arts

Jaime Goodrich, editor

Criticism provides a forum for current scholarship on literature, media, music, and visual culture. A place for rigorous theoretical and critical debate as well as formal and methodological self-reflexivity and experimentation, Criticism aims to present contemporary thought at its most vital.

Recent articles include

- The Permissible Narratives of Human Rights; or, how to be a Refugee
- Information Processing, Racial Semiotics, and Anti-Racist Protest, from “I am a Man” to “Black Lives Matter”
- The Desire for Fact: Anti-Racist Ethics in Discourses of Sexual Violence
